

4 x 4 Off-Road Racing

Addendum Sheet

for Commodore 64[®]/128[™] computers

Read the 4 x 4 Off-Road Racing instruction manual for loading and general game-play instructions. Read this addendum sheet for variations from the manual for the Commodore 64/128 version of the game.

You have three trucks per race--meaning you can total your truck twice and continue from where you left off in a new truck. To start a new truck after a crash, press the fire button. Then press it again to accelerate.

Damages

Follow the steps below, in place of those in your instruction manual, to make repairs with or without the right equipment.

1. Select the truck part that needs repair. Move the joystick handle to position the hand icon over the part and press the fire button. The equipment available to use for your repair appears in the lower left of the screen.

On the repair screen the following icons indicate your repair options: dwell/tachometer (quality repair), hammer (make-do repair), gas can (add gas), map (view your current position and the position of the checkpoints), and checkered flag (return to the race).

Depending on your supplies, some icons may not appear on the repair screen. For example, if you did not purchase a map, there will not be a map icon on the repair screen. The equipment you have for repair appears in the boxes below the repair icons. Certain items you may have purchased, such as tools, a flashlight, or hiring a mechanic, will help reduce the repair time.

2. To make a repair, move the hand icon above the appropriate repair icon and press the fire button.
3. After making your repairs, select the checkered flag icon to return to the race. Move the hand icon over the checkered flag and press the fire button twice--once to see your elapsed repair time, twice to return to the race.

If your truck is out of gas and there is no gas left in your gas can, the gas can icon does not appear and you're out of the current race. Select the checkered flag icon to exit the repair screen and start a new race.

Note: The repair screen does not automatically appear if the damage to your truck is minor. In that case, press Spacebar to see the repair screen.

The Party's Over

If you wreck your truck three times or cross the finish line, the race is over. The race is also over if you run out of gas and there is no gas left in your gas can. Select the checkered flag icon to exit the repair screen and start a new race.

After you cross the finish line, your position appears on the bottom of the screen. Your elapsed race time appears on the following scoring screen. To qualify for King of the Road, you must qualify on all four terrains in your level, and finish with the best combined time.

Tips

Practice as a Beginner because you'll have an unlimited number of lives.

Avoid going off course. It will slow you down and may cause damage.
